Met Office

NEWS

Rob Varley has stepped down as Chief Executive

Author: Press Office
12:45 (UTC) on Mon 5 Mar 2018

Rob Varley has stepped down from his role as Chief Executive of the Met Office.

Nick Jobling, currently Deputy Chief Executive and Chief Finance Officer, is now interim Chief Executive with immediate effect, pending the appointment of a permanent Chief Executive in due course.

This will ensure continued leadership of our world-class national meteorological service.

Met Office operations and services are wholly unaffected by this decision.

Met Office
© Crown Copyright